US polls in final stretch

REPUBLICAN challenger Mitt Romney holds a rally in West Allis, Wisconsin, on Friday as he and President Barack Obama enter the final stretch of the campaign. Romney is seeking to overturn Obama's vice lead.

Obama takes thin lead over Romney to last weekend

CLEVELAND, Ohio—President Barack Obama and Republican challenger Mitt Romney on Saturday powered into a final weekend of campaigning before handing their fates to voters after a bitter, grueling race for the White House.

The roads will chase one another through the battleground states that will decide Tuesday's election, with Obama seeking to solidify his eastern base of support, while Romney seeks an eleventh-hour breakthrough.

likely tipping point state, before heading to Wisconsin and Iowa, his trio of "firewall" battlegrounds ahead of a late-night rally in Virginia, where he still hopes for an upset victory.

Romney, fresh from the biggest rally of his campaign, which drew around 18,000 people on a cold night in West Chester, Ohio, on Friday will travel to New Hampshire, Iowa and Colorado.

In a show of close combat on the last weekend of the campaign, both candidates will be in the eastern Iowa town of Dubuque, within hours of one another.

Romney wrapped up for the weekend last weekend with a huge rally in Ohio, bringing together his former primary coach Rick Warren.

'Sandy' casualty: NY Marathon hits wall

NEW YORK—Bowing to mounting pressure, Mayor Michael Bloomberg on Friday canceled New York's annual marathon set for Sunday as the death toll from Superstorm "Sandy" rose and storm-related shortages saw essential light and water rationed. The city continued to struggle to recover from the devastation that killed at least 90 people in 13 states and in Canada.

The toll in New York City alone rose to 41 and at least 14 died in neighboring New Jersey, where searches of isolated areas were going on.

There was a glimmer of good news as power returned to 90,000 customers in Manhattan, amounting to almost half of the residents still left in the dark since Sandy struck. People in the streets of Lower Manhattan cheered as the lights gradually came back on. Full power was expected to return to the city's richest and most densely populated borough over the weekend.

But widespread shortages continued to affect parts of the city, as well as in New Jersey. Residents were told to stay in homes or in designated shelters at the few gas stations still functioning, with some cities in the New York region rationing fuel even for emergency services.

IMF chief coming to see how PH can help

By Michelle K. Borne

MANILA — Monetary Fund (IMF) head Christine Lagarde will visit the country this month to discuss the role of emerging economies in helping revive global economic growth.

The IMF made the announcement as a scheduled meeting between its top officials and the Philippine government officials. The IMF managing director will also meet the Philippine media in a press conference.

Lagarde is also expected to discuss IMF support for the reforms being pushed by the Philippine government to strengthen the domestic economy's growth.

These reforms include higher taxes on cigarettes and alcohol, the lifting of an investment ban from 2001 for businesses, and additional sales taxes to shore up its collection.

The IMF likewise supports calls for amending the Philippine constitution by Philippine President Benigno Aquino III to allow the sale of land for improving its ability to manage liquidity with its monetary and to improve the country's bonds.

In particular, the IMF wants to be able to make its own loans and have the investment management from the deposit source to better determine regulations in bank transactions, among other things. Lagarde is also expected to meet with Philippine officials to discuss the country's role in the IMF's efforts to help emerging economies.

Lagarde is also expected to meet with Philippine officials to discuss the country's role in the IMF's efforts to help emerging economies.

Lagarde's visit to Manila follows her trips to other Asian countries, the visit to China and India in March, and Indonesia, Japan and Thailand in July.

Lagarde is the first woman managing director of the IMF. She began her five-year term as head of the IMF in July 2011 following the resignation of Dominique Strauss-Kahn.

Prior to her visit as IMF managing director, Lagarde held various positions in the French government. She was the first woman finance minister for a G20 economy.

NOVEMBER 5TH - NOVEMBER 10TH @ RICHMONDE HOTEL ORTIGAS

On behalf of everyone here at the Great Canadian Roadshow, we would like to express how excited we are to finally come to the great country of the Philippines. The variety of items we are never sure to arrive at, as people here love immensely being so extraordinary, means that we have provided the best variety of items to bring to them. THAT OF COURSE, and all about with an expert and have them examined. We are looking to purchase a variety of antiques, including silver, precious metals (gold and silver jewelry), sterling silver (bowls and cutlery) and all other items with silver or gold content. We are expecting to see hundreds of people walk through our doors during this event, and we are looking forward to seeing all the amazing items this country has to offer!

The Great Canadian Roadshow will be at the Richmond Hotel Ortigas from November 5th - November 10th! Now is your chance to take advantage of this opportunity and cash in on your valuable items for the busy Christmas shopping season! People from all over the world are in possession of some very rare items and may not even know it!

The Roadshow experts will provide you with an accurate and fair evaluation of all your valuables, FREE OF CHARGE, and will also educate you on anything you need to know.

Since their inception, the Roadshow has been traveling across the world, searching for all of your forgotten treasures. They accept virtually anything, so don't be afraid to bring in that old family heirloom or even your grandfathers old coin collection because you never know what value they may hold.

Expert John Fleming explains, "Due to the recent increase in the price of gold and silver, we have seen a large increase of traffic towards the Roadshow. During these tough economic times, people are simply looking for any way to help their financial situation. GCR experts can provide you with useful information about your items and even offer a value for the items right on the spot."

The Great Canadian Roadshow specializes in precious metal evaluation, specifically gold and silver, and they are looking at all different kinds of necklaces, bracelets, rings and anything else you feel holds some value.

At a recent Roadshow event, a customer walked in with a box full of coins he got as a child from his grandfather. Not knowing their true value, he brought in his collection for our coin experts to examine:

"We uncovered a rare British Sovereign minted back in 1945," explains GCR expert Joe Wilson. "He also brought in a bunch of his vintage gold and silver coins that we were able to analyze and evaluate. Even though they didn't have rare substances, they were still extremely valuable due to their gold and silver content."

After his experience, Ray Matthews was able to cash in with an incredible 152,000 pesos! "I never expected to get anything for all these old coins. Now I can finally afford to renovate my bathroom", explains Mr. Matthews.

Traveling across the world since 2000, the Great Canadian Roadshow has been seeking out the world's most unique items. Gold and silver jewelry, sterling silver, pocket watches, antiques and rare collectibles are examples of items being purchased at the show. Remember that this service is FREE OF CHARGE, so be sure to take advantage of this amazing opportunity.

Thousands fail to beat voters' list deadline

By Max E. Arguillas and Romulo Pineda
Special Features Team

LEGASPI CITY—Time ran out on thousands of would-be voters who tried to beat the deadline to register at Commission on Elections (Comelec) offices on the last day of the registration period that started more than a year ago.

In Albay alone, election officials reported that at least 2,000 would-be voters failed to beat the deadline although they had failed to line up to register on the last day of the process on Oct. 31.

Romulo Pineda, supervisor of the Comelec in Albay, said hundreds of would-be voters waited in long queues in the province's 21 towns and three cities before the deadline registration there.

Pineda said the would-be voters could not be accommodated because Comelec offices had to close at 5 p.m. on Oct. 31. The would-be voters waited in lines, and some were turned away.

The situation was the same in most towns in Albay except in Iriga where there was a late turnout of would-be voters, according to Pineda.

The reluctance of more people in the province to beat the deadline in Albay is expected to push the number of voters in the province past 700,000, he said.

5,500 voters

In Legaspi, several town and precinct election officials said they expected to reach the 5,500 list of voters under the last day of the deadline.

Edmaro Arguillas, Comelec supervisor in Legaspi, said officials expected the number of voters in Legaspi to exceed 1.5 million as a result of the entry of new voters.

The Comelec has been using statistics that determine voter identities through supposedly authentic means like biometrics, but the registration period.

In southern Mindanao, election officials said they were pushing the voter list production in terms of number of voters to speed up the voting process next year.

Wilfredo Jay Balanda, Comelec regional director, said Comelec officials in the region had asked the Comelec on how to approach their request in maintaining a large number of voters as election process could be considered late for voters, election officials running the process, and the counting machines in each precinct.

5,172 precincts

Balanda said in Davao City alone, there are a total of 5,172 electoral precincts based on 2010 data. Each precinct has at least 1,000 voters.

"Based on 2010 election data, many voters were not able to vote in a number of POCs because they had no voter ID card," he said. POCs are precincts that are not yet set up for the election but were used in the previous election conducted in 2010.

Emilio Gallo, regional Comelec lawyer, said the number of voters in the region would reach following the election registration deadline on Oct. 31.

Gallo said in the case of Davao City alone, the Comelec reported that number of voters to increase to 1 million from the current 800,000.

"If the number of voters per electoral precinct is increased to less than 1,000, this would allow more to improve in the number of POCs machines that will be deployed in these regions," he said.

Although the registration process went on without a hitch in some areas, in others, no police officers have been received from these people after they were caught waiting outside voter registration centers to beat the deadline to register.

In 2005, multinational replaced all police officers and soldiers assigned to areas, a police presence for political reasons, with a police presence task force after a government-led shooting broke out in some towns.

"Based on the police force in the region on Oct. 31, the last day for voter registration, police officers should be deployed to the 2010 election," POC reported.

Gang head nabbed as 3 cops wounded

DAVAO CITY—At least three policemen were wounded during an operation that led to the arrest of one of the most wanted criminals in the Caraga region on Friday.

While police were able to capture Danilo Perez, the operation to arrest him did not come easy according to Senior Supt. Orlan Dela Torre, chief of the Agusan del Sur police.

Dela Torre said an arresting officer was injured in an encounter with Perez in Barangay Uno here, the gang leader killed a grenade.

The explosion wounded three officers, all with the rank of P1. They were identified as Arnel Pajo, Ruperto Milla and Jansen Macillo.

Perez, a former militiaman, shot a woman in 2009 when he led his armed followers in taking over an elementary school in a village in Prosperidad town, also in Agusan del Sur. His group seized 15 teachers and pupils and kept them captive for several days.

Perez was later arrested and jailed for an earlier crime in Butig del Sur but was able to escape in 2008.

Last month, his group pulled off another caper by abducting two Chinese nationals and a Filipino in Butig, Butig del Sur. The victims, who were involved in mining, had been rescued.

Dela Torre said Perez's group was also behind the string of robberies along the Agusan-Bukidnon Highway, which targeted bus passengers.

Shortly before he was arrested, Perez and his gang killed a policeman in San Francisco town, also in Agusan del Sur.

Dela Torre said aside from Perez, no gang members were also arrested in a follow-up operation on Friday.

"I can say we have already neutralized this gang," Dela Torre said. However, the Philippine Mindanao

Spaghetti poisons 23 in Albay town

By Mar S. Arguelles
Inquirer Staff Writer

LEGASPI CITY—Albay's provincial health office reported 23 villagers died from food poisoning after eating spaghetti at a neighborhood birthday party on Wednesday afternoon, one of All National Day in Davao area.

Dr. Luis Mendota, Albay health officer here, said a team of provincial and municipal health workers went to Park 4 in Barangay Gopo, some 8 kilometers from the Davao area proper and 18 km from this city, and found that 23 of 50 villagers suffered from diarrhea and headache, vomiting and cramping.

He said the 55 villagers were brought to local Regional Training and Teaching Hospital for treatment with four patients requiring confinement.

A provincial health office team also checked for more cases of food poisoning and also checked water quality in the area.

The 13th National Skin Disease Detection and Prevention Week

November 4-10, 2012

Paglilingkod ng Philippine Dermatological Society

In consolidating its mandate to be the recognized and respected leader in dermatology by pursuing excellence in skin health, the POS, in cooperation with the Department of Health (DOH), officially celebrates National Skin Disease Detection and Prevention Week (NSDDPW) from November 4-10, 2012.

This was started in September 3, 1938 under the term of that 99th president, Dr. Elizabeth Arden A. Tuma, under Presidential Proclamation No. 201. The nationwide observance of Mikewek is every 2nd week of November.

SAHAGUI is a national strategy to uplift the health status of Filipinos through patient education and early skin disease detection and prevention by proper dermatologic care.

The activities for this week include: Nationwide Community Outreach (see Index, Education Administration on page 1) on the 24th, 25th, and 26th; MS Research Forum to be held in the morning of November 7, 2012; MS Society Meeting entitled "Beyond the Clinic - How Will Do You Know Your Learner?" to be held in the afternoon of November 7, 2012; both at the Compass House Hotel, LLC; and the MS and National Conference with the Region 10 Nurses (see Index, on page 1) on the 28th and 29th, also at the Compass House Hotel, LLC.

Terminology clinics will be located in designated tertiary health centers, hospitals, and city halls throughout the Philippines with FCS members giving free consultation and free medicines. This project's participants include the four FCS chapters: Northern Luzon, Central Luzon, Southern Luzon, Southern Philippines and the 12 FCS accredited training institutions.

US lawmakers take action against Iran
 WASHINGTON, Oct 16 (AP) — US House of Representatives on Monday passed a bill to impose sanctions on Iran for its nuclear program. The bill, known as the Iran Sanctions Act, would prohibit the export of certain US goods and services to Iran and restrict US investment in the country. It also would require the US government to report to Congress on Iran's nuclear activities. The bill was passed by a vote of 387-11. It is now headed to the Senate, where it is expected to pass as well. The bill is part of a broader effort by the US to pressure Iran to abandon its nuclear program, which it claims is for civilian purposes. The US has long been concerned about Iran's nuclear program, particularly in light of its support for terrorism and its hostile stance towards the West.

Obama picks top
economic adviser
 WASHINGTON, Oct 16 (AP) — President Barack Obama on Monday named Timothy F. Geithy as his top economic adviser. Geithy, who has served as president of the Federal Reserve Bank of New York, will be responsible for advising the president on all matters related to the economy. He will also be in charge of the White House's Council of Economic Advisers. Geithy is a former member of the Federal Reserve Board and has a long history of working in the financial sector. He is seen as a strong supporter of Obama's economic policies and is expected to play a key role in shaping the administration's economic agenda.

Myanmar: No knowledge of military power
 YANGON, Oct 16 (AP) — Myanmar's military government on Monday said it had no knowledge of a report that the country's army was planning to launch a large-scale offensive against the ethnic Karen in the south. The report, which was published in a Western newspaper, claimed that the army was preparing to attack several towns in the Karen National Union area. The military government denied the report, saying that it was a fabrication. It also said that it was committed to maintaining peace and stability in the country and that it would not engage in any military operations against the Karen people.

Police refuse reporting on rights abuses
 WASHINGTON, Oct 16 (AP) — The US State Department on Monday said that it had received reports from human rights groups that the Myanmar military government was refusing to cooperate with international investigators. The groups, which include Human Rights Watch and Amnesty International, have accused the military of committing numerous human rights abuses, including the use of force against civilians and the suppression of dissent. The State Department said that it was disappointed that the military government was not providing the information requested by the investigators and that it was urging the government to cooperate fully with the international community.

Steak, 'pato tim,' tuna 'panga,' 'alamid' coffee, 'durian' sweets —GenSan's foodie hotspots

By [Name]

GenSan's foodie scene is a mix of traditional Filipino flavors and modern culinary techniques. From the bustling streets of Manila to the serene beaches of Boracay, the city offers a diverse range of dining experiences. Whether you're looking for a quick bite or a fine dining experience, GenSan has it all.

Steak and 'pato tim' are popular dishes in GenSan. The steak is typically served with a rich, savory sauce, while the 'pato tim' is a traditional Filipino dish made with roasted duck. Both dishes are often accompanied by rice and a side of vegetables.

'Alamid' coffee is a unique blend of traditional Filipino coffee and modern flavors. It is often served with a side of 'durian' sweets, which are made from the fruit of the durian tree. These sweets are a popular treat in GenSan.

Gida de la Cruz and her GenSan

If I must bring guests around GenSan, I would take them on a short trip to beautiful Lake Sebu. It is where my roots are, and I love the 'blaps' there!

LOCATED in the southwestern part of the province of South Cotabato, Lake Sebu is recognized by UNESCO as a cultural landscape in Mindanao, a district is a geographical area that encompasses a natural or built heritage work of man, culture and nature. With its rich and varied flora, fauna and scenic beauty along beautiful shorelines, as well as its local culture, the Lake Sebu area is known as the Summer Capital of Southern Philippines. The lake's shores tell an untold story of the indigenous T'boli, Tausug, Luma and Hanud tribes.

As a full-blooded T'boli, I am most interested in a variety of issues affecting not only us, but the world of culture and arts. The promotion of Filipino arts and culture is close to my heart.

AS FOUNDER and president of the T'boli Cultural Heritage Development Foundation, Gida is committed to creating, preserving and nurturing programs for the T'boli communities in Lake Sebu. One of her "top priority dreams" is to set up an eco-tourism for the T'boli heritage, generations to come and local tourists.

I would also bring visitors to the Dola plantation.

WITH A BUSTLING P. M. Museum in the background, the Dola Plantation is a beautiful place, South Cotabato is the largest island in the world in its growing, processing, and exporting of fresh and dried mangoes in the area. The plantation also has a variety of other products like pineapples and coconuts.

the people. It is a really local people who are business-minded in local industries, as well as in agriculture, and in the local government. But they are not really business-minded.

Gida also presented a book, From the Mountains to the Sea, to the members and staff of the local government. It is a book about the local people, their culture, and their history.

Cultural roots

Outside her exposure to business and development, Gida remains close to her cultural roots as founder and chair of the T'boli Cultural Heritage Development Foundation, Inc., which promotes and nurtures T'boli culture and heritage. She is also a member of the T'boli Cultural Heritage Development Foundation, Inc., which promotes and nurtures T'boli culture and heritage.

She is also founder and president of the T'boli Cultural Heritage Development Foundation, Inc., which promotes and nurtures T'boli culture and heritage. She is also a member of the T'boli Cultural Heritage Development Foundation, Inc., which promotes and nurtures T'boli culture and heritage.

"It is great that SM is now in GenSan. To me, it is a powerful indicator of GenSan's potential for growth."

"GENSAN" the attitude of the people is the key to the city's success. It is a city that is growing, and it is a city that is becoming more and more developed. It is a city that is becoming more and more developed.

San Philippine Museum Foundation, Asian Textiles and the Philippine Experimentation Center for Textile Development in the US to further develop their textile craft.

"I am passionate about the promotion of this project," she says. She hopes to further develop T'boli textile and high-end fashion accessories and home furnishings.

"The T'boli is an ancient, living work of art," she says. "But they also get inspiration and become a part of the modern-day fashion industry. It is a part of the T'boli culture."

She, Gida, also has a passion for GenSan, her SM.

"Seafood is a must here in GenSan. It is, after all, the town capital of the Philippines and one must try all types of fish. My favorite is my husband's 'kintlaw'."

I feel very strongly about the promotion of 'kintlaw' as a living artwork. It is a historical fabric that Filipinos can truly claim as their own. I am heavily into 'kintlaw' design, product and marketing as a tool to help my sister."

"T'boli" is a deep history about human life, the evolution of human life, the evolution of human life. It is a history that is about the evolution of human life. It is a history that is about the evolution of human life.

SM Mall, GenSan, is a must here in GenSan. It is, after all, the town capital of the Philippines and one must try all types of fish. My favorite is my husband's 'kintlaw'.

"I like the architecture of the SM mall in GenSan—the layout and the placement of shops are strategic, and the mall has a well-planned, understated look. It is inviting without being overpowering, and has a laid-back, refreshing feel to it. Everything about it is spacious, airy and fun altogether."

Despite its size, another beauty of the mall is its location. It is a mall that is located in a beautiful area, and it is a mall that is located in a beautiful area.

ENRIE: Big Lewis in Vic Sotto's new show

Vic Sotto's exciting new show

VIC SOTTO's new game show, "The Million Price History Quiz," got off to an exciting start last Monday on TV, with Enrie and his Quince playing for a real and big million.

VIEWFINDER

back to their last big budget's production, the exciting didn't have a happy ending for them, but up to the last question, they were doing really well.

The new program brought our viewers in a special way right from the start, because it presented an extremely relevant range of topics for its contestants to choose from.

Logically, the players who would do well in the show should have a wide range of interests. The Quince brothers filled the bill quite easily as they ended up with half a million pesos left — better they lost it all on the final question!

Despite their extensive knowledge, from sports to the United Nations' official programs, the Quince siblings suffered from a bad case of nerves throughout the program, because one bad roll could sink them and their beneficiary a lot of money!

To make the proceedings even more "thrilling" for viewers and reward for the contestants' efforts, host Enrie playfully questioned some of the brothers' answers, prompting them to remember their answers, before taking a deep breath and sticking to their original answers.

Erich says Thai screen partner very playful, even naughty

By Alex Polanco
Contributor

MOVIE-obsessed "ball of the music" "Stuckly" is the first in a series of films in Bangkok where he has been making his Thai screen partner. The superior Marco Marini and accompanied her with a different culture.

One of the first things Erich learned was that the Thai film crew followed a 12-hour per day, unlike in the Philippines where shooting would be around 14 hours long. "They were very strict about it, it was tough on my, but we eventually adjusted," Erich said in a recent press conference for the movie.

Director Ray Quinsay added: "We usually very passionate and try to get while the Thai are not back. They thought we were crazy when they learned that we worked such long hours."

Produced by Ray Quinsay, "Stuckly It's Magic" is about Thai superstar Marina Henson (Pattani) who, in an effort to escape the wilderness of her life, flies to the Philippines where he meets and falls in love with Jay (Erich).

more (Erich), a talent.

For the Thai, the head is the most sacred part of the body and touching it is considered taboo. However, in this, Erich, is one of the movies, gave him a real job, which shocked him.

Similarities

Marini's designer, making art and music, who were all working the show, poured off their story and instead telling Erich's story. That, Apparently, serious shopping is necessary to understand Thailand.

"Here, we don't like it," Erich explained. "Good thing Marini was okay with it. I apologized, and asked his team if we could do the same again. They said 'No, only once!'"

But Erich said the best and best thing was that they were also sensitive for every Filipino and Thai. "We're both happy and love people people," she said. "I even cooked meals for Marini and his team."

Working with Marini was his best experience, said Erich. "He doesn't have an ounce of arrogance. He's very professional - also very playful and naughty."

When that, the quality that Erich admired most in Marini was his openness about his relationship with his girlfriend of some years. Did this inspire Erich to be open with his love life as well? "Well," she said, "The movie had about one thing. I've been dating a girl since high school. I've been dating a girl since high school. I've been dating a girl since high school. I've been dating a girl since high school."
